The Table to hulwifery you shall find in the ende of the booke.

To the ryght honorable & my speciall good Lord & Master, the Lord Paget of Bennesert.

Chap, r.

MI Lord your father loued me,
and you my lord, haue proued me,
And both your loues haue moued me,
to wright as here is donne:
Synce God hath hence your father,
fuch flowers as I gather,
I dedicate now rather,
to you my Lorde his fonne,

Your father was my founder, till death became his wounder, no fubicet euer founder, whom prince auauncement gaue:

As God did here defend him, and honour here did fend him, fo will I here commend him, as long as life I haue,

His neighbours then did bliffe him, his feruants now do miffe him, the poore would gladly kiffe him, aliue agayne to be:
But God hath wraught his pleafure, and bleft him out of measure, with heauen & earthly treafure, fo good a god is he.

His counsell had I vsed, and Ceres are refused,

Trecde

The Epiftle.

I nede not thus have mused, nor droope as now I do: But I must playe the farmer, & yet no whit the warmer, allthough I had his armer, and other comfort to,

Esops

The foxe doth make me minde him, whose glory so did blinde him, till taile cut of behinde hym, no fare could him content: euen so, must I be prouing, such glory I had in louinge, of things to plough behouing, that make me now repent, Saluft.

Loytrers I kept fo meany,
both Philip hob & Cheany,
that that way nothing geany,
was thought to make me thriue:
Like lugurth Prince of Numid,
my gold away confumid,
with loffes fo perfumid,
was neuer none aliue.

Great fines, so nere did pare me, great rent, so much did skareme, great charge, so long did dareme.

that made me at length cry creak:
Much more of all such fleeses, as oft I lost by peeces,
amonge such wiely geess,
Llist no lengerspeake.

Though countrey helth long staied me, yet lease expiering fraiedme, & (ictus sapit) praied me, to seke more steady staye:

New lessons then I noted, and some of olde I coted, least some should thinke I doted, by bringing naught awaye.

Though Pallas hath denied me, her learned pen to guideme, for that she dailie spideme, with countrey how I stood: yet Ceres, so did boldeme, with her good lessons tolde me, that rudenes cannot holdeme, from doing countrie good.

By practife & ill speeding, the ale lessons had their breeding, and not by heare say, or reeding, as some abrode have blowne: who will not thus belieueme, so much the more they greiueme, because they grutch to geiueme, that is of right myne owne.

At first for want of teaching, at first for trisles breaching, at first for ouer reaching, & lacke of taking hid: was cause, that toile so tostme, that practise so much costme, that rashnes so much lostme, or hindred as it did.

Pallas goddesse of wiseds &learnig

The Epiftle.

Yet will I not dispaire, through Gods good gift so faire, through frendship, golde & praier, in Countrey againe to dwell: Where rent so shall not paine me, but paine shall help to gaine me, and gaine shall help maintaine me, newe lessons mo to tell.

For Citie seemes a wringer,
the peny for to finger,
from such as there do linger,
or for their pleasure lye:
Though countrey be more painefull,
and not so greedy gainefull,
yet is it not so vainefull,
in following fancies eye.

I haue no labour wanted,
to prune this tree I planted,
whose fruit to none is scanted,
in house nor yet in syeld:
Which fruite to saye (who haste of) though nere so much they taste of, yet can they make no waste of,
such fruite this tree doth yelde.

This tree or booke thus framed, with tytle already pamed,
I trust goes forth vnblamed,
in your good Lordships name:
As my good Lords I take you,
and neuer will forsake you,
so now I craue to make you,
defender of the same.

Chap, 29.

When Chistmas is endid, bid featting adue, go play the good hulbad, thy stock to renewe, be mindeful of rearing, in hope of a gaine: Dame profit shall gene the reward for thy paine.

- 2 110 ho, both by his calle, a his lab wil be knowne, may well kill a neate, a a thepe of hys owne. a he that will reare by, a pig in hys howle: hath cheaper hys baken, a tweeter hys fowle.
- 3 who eateth hys beale, pig a lamb being froth, thall twife in a weke, go to bed without broth. Unfkilfull, that pas not, but fell awape fell: thall never have plenty, where ever they dwell.
- 4 Be gredye in hending, a careles to laue, a thostly be nedy, a ready to craue. be wilfull to kill, a bulkifull to ficze, a neuer loke long, to kepe howle any moze.
- 5 Lave drit boon heapes, fayer yarde to bee feene, pf frest wil abide it, to field e with it cleene. in winter a fallowe, some love to bestowe, where peace for the pot, they entend for to some.
- o In making or mending, as nedith thy ditch, get let to quick let it, learne cunningly which, in hedging (where clave is) get stake as ye knowe, of popeler a willowe, for sewell to growe.

7 Leaue

- Theane killing of Cunney, let doe go to buck, and vermine thy burrow, for feare or ill luck. Fede Doue (no more killig) old doue house repaire saue doue doung, for hoppard, whe house ye make (faire.
- 8 Diggarde, strop mallow, now may ye at ease, and ser (as a deintie) thy runcifall pease. Go cut a set roses, chuse aptly the plot: the rootes of the yongest, are belt to bee got.
- 9 In tome go a bargaine, least worter do fall, for fewell, for making, for carriage a all. to buy at the stub, is the best for the buyer: more timely providion, cheaper the fier.
- 10 Some burneth a lode, at a time in hys hall, fome neuer leave burning, till burnt they have all. Some making of havock, without any wit: make many pooze foules, without fier to fit.
- II If frost do continue, the less to bell, for comfort of cattle, the fewell to fell. From every tree, the superfluous bowes: now prune for the neate, thereupon to go browes.
- 12 In pruning a trimming, all maner of trees, referue to eache cattle, their property fees.

 If howe do continue, thepe hardly that fare: craue miltle & Juye, for them for to spare.
- 13 Prowlop for thy fewel, olde pollenger growen that hinders the corne, or the graffe to be mowen.

lanuaries bufbandry.

In lopping & felling, faue edder and faket thine hedgis as nedith, to mend or to make.

14 In loppinge olde Jocham, for feare of milhap, one bough stare unlopped, to cherish the sap. the second yeare after, then boldly re maye: For dripping his fellows, that bough ent awaye.

15 Lop, poppler, and falow, elme, maple, a pipe, well faued from cattle, till fommer to lye. fo far as in lopping, ther tops ye do flinge: fo far without plantinge, yong coppe will springe.

16 If hoppard or orchard, pe minde for to have, for hoppoles and crotchis, in lapping go fave. which hulbandly spared, mape serve at a push; and stop, by so havinge, two gapps with a bush.

from Christmas till Manbe well entered in, some cattle ware fainte, and loke poorely & thin, and chiefly, when prime grasse at first doth apperent then most is the daunger, of all the whole yere.

tcl. thys many tymes rayled the feble by best.

19 Pogee bullock with browling, a naughtely fed, thatfe feedith, her teeth be fo lofe in her hed. then lyfe ye the taile, where ye fele it to foit: with foote a with garlick, bound to it a loft.

20 By brembles and bulhes, in pasture to full, poore theepe be in danger, and loseth their wull. Row therfore thine eawe, byon laming so neere: befireth in pasture, that all may bee cleere.

21 Leante grnbbing of pulling, of bushes (my fone) till timely thy fenses, require to be donne. then take of the best, for to furnish thy turne, and home with the rest, for the fier to burne.

22 In enery greene, if the fence be not thinc, now flub by the bulbes, the graffe to be fine. Leaft neighbour do daylie, so hack them beline: that neither thy bulbes, noz pasture can thine.

23 In ridding of patture, with turnes to bye, fill enery hole by, as close as a dye.
The labor is little, the profit is gaye:
what ever the lottering laborers laye.

24 The sticks a the stones, go a gather by cleene, for hurting affieth, or for harming of greene. For feare of Hew prouler, get home with the rest, when frost is at hardist, then carriage is best.

25 pog brome or good pallure, the ewes do require warme barth & in fafetie, their lambs do defire. looke often well to them, for fores and dogs; for pitts & for brembles, for bermin and hogs.

26 More deintie plat, the more worth to be folde, the fooner the better, for eawe that is older Ianuaries busbandry.

But if ye do minde, to have milke of the dame: till May do not feauer, the lamb fro the fame.

27 Cams yerely by twining, rich malters do make the lamb of fuch twynners, for breeders gotake. For twinlings be twiggers, encrease for to bring; though som for their twigging, peccante may sing.

28 Calues kkely, y come betwen Chrismas & lent, take hulwife to rere, or else after repent.

Df such as do fall, betwene change & the prime:
no rering, but sell, or go kill them in tyme.

29 House calfe, a go sockle it twise in a daye, and after a while, set it water a have. Stake ragged to rub on, no such as will bend: then weane it well tended, at fiftie dayes end.

30 The senior weaned, hys ponger shall teache, both how to drink water, thay for to reache. Bore strocken amade of when ought it do affe more gentle pe make it, for poke or the paile.

gi Beld bull, calfe, a ramlamb, as sone as they fall, for therein is lightly, no daunger at all. Some spareth the ton, for to pleasure the eye: to have him sheaw greater, whe butcher shal buye.

32 Sowes ready to farrow, this time of f yere, are for to be made of, a counted full dere.

For now is the loss of a face of the low; more great the the loss, of two calues of the kow.

The thriftie, that teacheth the thriving to thrive,
Teach timely to traverse, the thing that thou trive.
Transferring thy toyling, to timelines tought,
This teacheth thee temperance, to temper thy thought,
Take trustie(to trust to) that thinkest to thee,
That trustely thriftines, trowleth to thee.
Then temper thy travaile, to tary the tyde,
This teacheth thee thriftines, twenty times tryde,
Take thankfull thy talent, thanke thankfully those,
That thriftely teacheth, thy time to transpose.

The Preface to the booke of Huswifrie.

Take weapon away, of what force is a mantake hulwife fro hulband, a what is he than-

2 As lovers defireth, fogether to dwell, fo hulbandry loveth, good hulwifry well.

3 Though hulbander semeth, to being in f gains pet hul wifter labours, seeme equall in paines.

4 Some respit to hulbads, the wether may lend, but hul wives affaires, have never an end.

As true as thy fayth, Thus Huswifrie sayth.

J Serve for a day-for a weeke, for a yeare, for life time, for ever, while man dwelleth here! The matter for richer, for poorer, from North to the South, for honest, for hardhed or daintie of mouth.

For wed, and vnwedded, in sickness and health, for all that wel liveth, in good common wealth.

For Citie, for countrey, for Court and for cart, to quiet the head, and to comfort the hart.

Adescription of huswife and Huswiferie.

Of hulwife, doth hulwiferie challenge & name. of hulwiftie, hulwife doth likewife the fame. Where hulpad a hulbandzie ionneth with thease there welthing gotten, is holden with ease.

The name of a hulwife, what is it to laye the wife of the house, to the hulband a stay. If hulband be wittie, there needeth no stir.

The hulwife is the, that to labour doth fall, the labour of hir, I do hulwiferie call. If theift by that labour, be laued or got: then is it good hulwiferie, els is it not.

The woman, the name of a hulwife doth win, by keping hir house, and of doings therin.

Ind the that with hulband, will quietly dwell:

Enstructions to Huswifery. Fol. 3

Scrue God is the furst, True love is not wurst.

A Dayly good leston, of hulwife in deede, is God to remember, the better to speede.

2 An other good lesson, of huswiterie thought, is huswife with hus band, to line as the ought.

¶VVife comely no griefe, Man out, huswife chiefe,

- 3 Though trickly to see to, be gallant to wine, yet comely and wise, is the huswife to thrine.
- 4 When husband is absent, let hus wife be chiefe and looke to their labour that eateth hir biefe.

Both out, not alow, Kepe house huswife thou.

- 5 Where has band a hulwife, be both out of place there fernants do loyter, and reason their case.
- o The hulwife to named (ofkeping the house) must tend on her profit, as cat on the mouse.

Seeke home for reft, For home is beft.

7 As hulwives keepe home, 7 be firrers about to speedeth their winnings, prese thorough out

8 Thogh home be but homly, pethulwif is taught that home bath no fellow, to such as have aught. S.iii. Vie ¶Vfeall with fkill, afke what ye will.

9 Good blage with knowledge, a quiet with all, Apakes hulwife to thine, as the fun on the wall.

10 What hus band resuleth, all comely to have, that hath a good hus wife, all willing to save.

Bereadieat neede,

The case of good huswines, thus dayly doth what ever that chauce, to be ready at hand. (stad,

This care bath a hulwife all day in hir head, that all thing in feason be hulwifely fed.

By practife go muse,
How hows hold to vie.

13 Dame practise is the, that to hus wife must tell, which way for to governe, her family well.

14 Use labourers gently, keepe this as a lawe, make childe to be civil, keepe servant in awe.

¶VVho carelelle do leiue, occasion do geiue.

A digression.

Dw out of the matter, this lesson Jad, cocerning cock crowing, what profit is had experience teacheth, as true as a clock: how winter night passeth, by marking the cock.

Cock croweff at midnight, filnes few about fir, with paule to his neighbour, to answere betwir, at three a clock thicker, and then as re know: like all in to Mattens, nere day they do crow.

At midnight, at three, and an hower ere day, they ofter their language, as well as they may: which who to regardeth, what counted they give, wil befree love crowing, as long as they live.

For being frayd,
Take heede good mayd:
Marke crowing of cock,
For feare of a knock.

For men a perfect warning, What child shall come by learning.

A Lyou that faine would learne, the perfect way to have your child, in mulike some thing seene: Aske Pature first, what therto the doth say, ere further sute, you ake to such a Queene. How doubtlessee Grossum caput) is not he, of whom the learned Muses, seene will be.

Once fried that nature, frim hath done hir part, and Lady Dulick, farre in lone withall: Be wife who first, doth teach thy child that art, least homely breaker, marre fine ambling Ball. Pot rod in madbraines hand, is that can helpe, But gentle skill, doth make the proper whelpe.

Mhere chopse is hard, count good for well a fine, skill mirt with will, is he that teacheth best, Let this suffice for teaching child of thine: chuse quickly well, for all the lingring rest.

Mistaught at first, how seldome proueth well-trim taught (D God) how shortly doth excell-

Although as thips, must fary wind a tide, and perfect howers, abide their stinted time, So likewise, though of learning (dayly tride) space must be had, ere witte may therto clime: Det easy steps, and perfect way to trust, both cause good speede, confeste of sozee we must.

Thus

Thus in the child, though wit pnough we finde, and teacher good, neare hand, or other where: And time as apt, as may be thought with minde, nor cause, in such thing, much to doubt or feare: Pet coking Mames, thifting Dads froscholes, makes pregnat wittes, to prove unlearned fooles.

Ere learning come, to have first art thou faught, apt learning child, apt time that thing to frame, apt cunning man to teach, else all is naught, apt parents glad, to bring to passe the same.

Du such apt ground, the Puses love to build, this lesson learne: adem else learned child.

Ale not my friend, to finde me here, Contented with this pase estate, And seeme to do, with willing chere, That courtier doth, so deadly hate: Hos fortunes lake, Hath changed beine, And I my bake,

2 And yet of force, to learne a new Mould much aboth, the dulled brayne, I crave to indge, if this be true, the truant child, that knowth the paine, But where a fpight, Of force mult be, What is that wight, may disagree.

Po, no, God wot, to dilagree,
Is bentring all to make o; marre,
If fortune frowne, we dayly fee,
It is not best, to true to farre;
For loodly bent,
Sput learne to spare,
And be content,
Whith country fare.

4. From vaintie court, to country fare, To daintie fed, is viet firange, From Cities ioy, to country care, to [killes folke, is homely change.

Departing from the Court.

Where need yet can, none other f kill, fomtime poze man muft breake his will.

5 If courtly change, to breaketh wil, that countrey life, must ferne the turne, what profit then, in Ariuing fill, against the prick to seme to spurne.

If court with cart, must be content: what ease to bart, though mind repent.

6 What gaine I, though I vo repent my crotches al, are broke and gone, My wonted friends, are careles bent, they feare no chance, I chance byon,

As neo both make old age to trot, So mult I take, in worth my lot.

7 Pow, if I take in worth my lot, that fatall chance both force me to, If ye be friends, embraid me not, but vie a friend, as friends thould do.

Behold the horse must trudge for pelle: And yet of force content it selfe.
